COMMISSION FORM THREE HUNDRED IS COMMERCIAL CLUB TOPIC MILLION FEET OF TIMBER

Tuesday's Meeting Will Be Marked With Effort to Better
Municipal Conditions;
Attendance Also Subject.

The commission form of government will be the topic at the Commercial Club meeting next Tuesday evening, the first one for the month of December. A committee appointed by the city council to investigate the matter will be on hand with a report, and it is expected that a very interesting discussion will take place with the commission plan as a topic.

Another subject of importance which will be brought up at that time is the Alameda dike, which is said to be badly in need of improvement. If this dike is left in need of repairs, and the water rises to the height which it reached last fall and last summer, during the coming spring floods, there will be great discomfort and inconvenience felt in Albuquerque, as the water may even reach the business section of the city.

The club proposes to investigate the condition of this dike and to see that the city's safety from flood waters is maintained.

Good attendance at club meetings will be another topic of discussion. Of late the attendance at the meetings has decreased considerably, and an effort to bring back the members will be made and presented vigorously.

Other matters which will come up are relative to advertising in the Journal of the American Medical Society, and by means of booklets.

President Simon Stern of the club said today: "There is no reason why we should not have an informal discussion of the commission form of government on the report of the committee, though of course that report must formally go to the council first. We will just discuss its points as made public by committee members."

As regards the dike proposition, of course the commissioners are looking after that all the time, but it seems that if we could make a permanent improvement in it this winter, instead of just a few hundred dollars' worth of temporary repairs, it would be a benefit and would save money in the end. What we really ought to do is to get the Santa Fe to run a track down there and dump a few trainloads of fill-trap on the mud dike that is there. That would fix things for good."

Attractive Ribbons

Our display of Ribbons is unusually pleasing. These ribbons are often used for hat trimming and are also suitable for the many charming novelties in fancy work, to be used as holiday gifts.

MOVING PICTURE PEOPLE SURELY COMING SAYS SELIG

Head of Great Photoplay House Announces That Company Will Make Headquarters in Albuquerque.

ARE NOW CLOSING UP AT CANON CITY, COLO.

That the company which his house now has at Canon City would not only come to Albuquerque but would make their headquarters in Albuquerque for some time, and would work throughout this section, with this city as a base, was the positive statement made this morning by A. Selig, head of the Selig motion picture company.

Several trials without juries were also arranged, by the agreement of counsel.

A suit for divorce was filed this afternoon in the district court by Cecilia Montoya de Garcia, against Daniel Garcia, the grounds being cruelty, non-support, and an absolute divorce are asked.

A marriage license was issued today between Guillermo thrush and Pahila Lopez. Both are residents of Albuquerque.

Petitions for the correction of the assessment rolls, or for the refunding of taxes paid through error in the rolls, were filed today by E. Pinney, A. A. and D. A. Rankin, Alvin Pohle, P. M. Sandow, Jardro Sandow, Felipe Armita, Mary J. Allen, Elliot Crossman and Timmon Sals.

In the last named case, the court held that certain of the assessments paid were double assessments, and that the tax sales held under them were therefore void, and that the certificates issued void, and that the tax sales held and certificates issued therefore constituted no cloud on the title of the land assessed. Decisions have not been made in the other cases.

In the case of Minnie H. Mayberry vs. Russell C. Mayberry, an action for divorce, the court ruled that the divorce be granted and her maiden name restored to the plaintiff.

The court ordered a commission to issue to Victor Eg. United States consular agent at Helsinki, Finland, to take the depositions of Maria and Elizabeth Leptis in the case of Maria and Elizabeth Leptis vs. Helmut, Henry and Andrew Langley, and their unknown heirs, if any. The commission was granted on petition of Ferguson and Cross, attorneys for the plaintiffs.

When told that there was a moving picture company now at the Grand Apartments, Mr. Selig said: "I have 25 men here to photograph that town again. It is too large. You can't get a lens that will fit it. And if you have any people acting, you might as well give up, for they are too far away. I know people go down there and try to get pictures of it, but a man who only stays there two weeks is lost. Men have spent years finding out the best points of view, the best places from which to photograph them, and all that sort of thing. Why, I have had the agricultural department after me to make pictures of apples. I said I could not even make an apple picture under a year. Of course you can go out and get pictures of people picking and sorting apples, but that is not an apple picture. You have to begin with the little trees, and show them in all stages, bud, blossom, fruit, picking, and all of it. Such a picture might take me three years."

The entire stand on the forest floor of yellow pine and Douglas fir is in all good logging country, and there are several opportunities for the small mill owner to make a good living. The people at Zuni and Blackrock, at the government schools and at nearby ranches, have been shipping timber to Gallup and then hauling it into their home, often a long distance. A small mill would supply this demand and not only make money but save money and time for the residents. There are several other good mill propositions on the tract.

Timber must be cut under certain restrictions, however. Only mature trees must be cut and then a sufficient supply of mature timber must be left to re-seed the area cut over. New timber must be left unmeasured. Brush must be piled or scattered according to the conditions at the particular point where cutting is done.

There will be a meeting of the board of directors of the Y. W. C. A. at the association home on South Third street at 2:30 p. m. All members, whether newly elected or returning, are urged to attend, as the annual election of officers takes place at this meeting.

H. E. Newman, manager of the Gallup Mercantile company, arrived on No. 2 this afternoon for a brief business visit.

A. G. Sims of Isleta arrived on No. 2 this afternoon on a business visit to Albuquerque.

CRIMINAL DOCKET CALLED TODAY

Many Cases Disposed of in District Court by Judge Abbott and Attorneys.

The criminal docket is being called this afternoon in Judge Ira A. Abbott's chambers in the court house, and many cases have been taken off after enumerating the docket for some time. A large number of local attorneys are present, and from time to time inform the court of their desire to have certain cases tried or dismissed or disposed of in various ways.

Many cases have been ordered stricken from the docket or dismissed, by motion of District Attorney George S. Koch, most of them with leave to re-enter them on the docket.

By agreement between counsel this afternoon, while the docket was being called, it was settled that a test of the cases against the saloon-keepers charged with keeping open on a general election day should be made before the supreme court, by some means to be devised and agreed upon by attorneys representing the visitors and the defendants.

Several trials without juries were also arranged, by the agreement of counsel.
